

Because so many people claim Christianity in our country, the term has lost its power of distinction. An individual can brand him or herself a “Christian” and yet live no differently than the masses. To make matters worse, when a person questions the authenticity of a “believer”, there is often a feeling of being judgmental or, at least, not being very Christ-like. After all, who but God can really see inside the heart of an individual? Are there any distinguishing marks of a Christian? Today, we will be exploring what it means to be converted, and the common marks of being a disciple of Jesus Christ that all Christians share.

How Can You Know?

The five marks of true conversion are:

1. _____ to the _____ of Jesus Christ

2. _____ of _____

3. _____ of the _____

4. _____ for the people of God

5. _____ for the _____
