

We value asking questions to better understand how to live life in a God-centered, Christ-exalting way. We believe that church should be the best place in which people can get solid answers to life's questions from God's Word.

1. Since a parent cannot make a child trust Christ, what is the role of the parent in raising a child? In other words, what are parents responsible/accountable before God for given only God can do the "deep work" of changing the heart of a child? Trying to find balance in my role and God's work.
2. Is Beth Moore a false teacher, if so why and should she be publicly called out. Should she be preaching and teaching from the pulpit? Should women preach or teach from the pulpit over men, 1 Timothy 2:12 and other passages say no. Why is there so much disagreement over the interpretation of these passages in the SBC?
3. Is streaming movies or downloading books from illegal websites sinful?
4. A student at the retreat in my small group asked "Why do we ask the Lord to lead us not into temptation when we pray the Lord's Prayer, if the Lord does not tempt us?". Also, should the Lord choose to test us, isn't that good? I have wrestled with this same verse in trying to understand. The Word of God tells us that the Holy Spirit led Jesus into the wilderness to be tempted by Satan. If we are in Christ, and Christ has fulfilled all for us- does the petition to lead us not into temptation show that we are trusting in the finished work that Christ has done? He was tempted and without sin. Would love to hear what y'all have to say on this topic.
